

Fischell

6 messages

EricNumis@aol.com <EricNumis@aol.com>

Sun, Feb 27, 2011 at 3:58 PM

To: [REDACTED]

Julian: You told me and perhaps it said in Jack May's book that his mother's maiden name was more or less like the above. Before I look up proper spelling etc. I would like Jack to advise me where his mother's family came from, where they went and whether he had any Missouri or mid-western relatives.

Ernest Hemingway's third wife was Martha' Gelhorn who went to John Burroughs School with me in St. Louis. Her mother was an organizer of John Burroughs School in St. Louis in 1823 and her maiden name was Edna Fischell. She married Dr. George Gelhorn, a graduate of Heidelberg University in Germany and they lived in St. Louis about a block from our family residence. A close relative of Edna, perhaps a brother, was named Ellis Fiischel and was a prominent doctor in St. Louis. They avoided Jewishness I believe.

I have all the books in our library to correct the spelling and details once I get the data from Jack.

Relatively speaking      Eric

To: [REDACTED]
Cc: Eric/Eve Newman <ericnumis@aol.com>

Sun, Feb 27, 2011 at 4:46 PM

Jack:

Here is the information about your family, from Eric's spywork.

JIE

Begin forwarded message:

From: EricNumis@aol.com
Date: February 27, 2011 2:58:43 PM CST
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: Fischell
[Quoted text hidden]

=

To: [REDACTED]
Cc: Eric/Eve Newman <ericnumis@aol.com>

Mon, Feb 28, 2011 at 10:51 AM

Julian and Eric...We are still in Florida. Here is a short update for your much appreciated research.

The Fishel family of three brothers came to the mid south in the 1830s from Beyreuth Germany. Morris Flshel peddled around Mississippi and Tennessee. Then in 1849 headed to California via Panama and joined up with the Cincinnati Mining Co. He returned to Cincinnati, married Margaret Callahan (Irish Catholic) fell under the influence of Isaac Mayer Wise, Came to Nashville withe the occupation in 1863, founded the first Reform Temple, and probably was in the KKK very early on for a short time. Eric -- He did bring back a Cincinnati Mining Co coin which my grandfather Jake Fishel unfortunately sold it about 1940. I still do have a Norris Gregg Norris coin from him which I gave to my grandson Dan May now a senior at Princeton.

Now that is a little of the Fishel's, the May (Mai) family of Hoechst in Odenwald are pretty colorful too.

----- Original Message -----

From: [REDACTED]
To: [REDACTED]
Cc: "Eric/Eve Newman" <ericnumis@aol.com>
Sent: Sunday, February 27, 2011 3:46:34 PM
Subject: Fwd: Fischell

Jack:

Here is the information about your family, from Eric's spywork.

JIE

Begin forwarded message:

From: EricNumis@aol.com
Date: February 27, 2011 2:58:43 PM CST
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: Fischell

Julian: You told me
and perhaps it said in Jack May's book that his mother's maiden name was more or less like the above. Before I look up proper spelling etc. I would like Jack to advise me where his mother's family came from, where they went and whether he had any Missouri or mid-western relatives. Ernest Hemingway's third wife was Martha' Gelhorn who went to John Burroughs School with me in St. Louis. Her mother was an organizer of John Burroughs School in St. Louis in 1823 and her maiden name was Edna Fischell. She married Dr. George Gelhorn, a graduate of Heidelberg University in Germany and they lived in St. Louis about a block from our family residence. A close relative of Edna, perhaps a brother, was named Ellis Fiischel and was a prominent doctor in St. Louis. They avoided Jewishness I believe.

I have all the books in our library to correct the spelling and details once I get the data from Jack.

Relatively speaking                      Eric

---

Wed, Mar 2, 2011 at 10:19 AM

To: [REDACTED]
Cc: Eric/Eve Newman <ericnumis@aol.com>, [REDACTED]

Thanks. Your Fischell's are fascinating but not my Fishel's. My great grandfather Morris Fishel came from Bayreuth to the central South in the 1830s. He is fascinating enough. He was a peddler in such romantic places a Arab Mississippi. Then he crossed the isthmus of Panama and took a boat to California in 1849 and joined the Cincinnati Mining Company. Unfortunately my grandfather Jake Fishel sold the CMC gold double eagle in 1940 to raise a little money. But he gave me the Norris Gregg Norris coin which I have given to my eldest grandson Dan, now at Princeton. Anyway he, Morris, returned to Cincinnati, married an Irish girl, Margaret Callahan, falls under the influence of Isaac Mayer Wise, comes to Nashville in 1863 with Grant's occupation, forms the first Reform congregation here, also according to family legend was for a short time an early member of the KKK.

Jake was a 33rd degree Scottish Rite Mason sent his son Morris to Harvard class of 1922. Morris' daughter Nancy married David Wolf a major art collector now back in Cincinnati. Coincidentally all of this was rehearsed yesterday by my Swamper 6 and still fine friend Joe Hirschhorn with Nebagamon's own Rabbi Ken Kanter at HUC. I had recently sent them a copy of Alphabet of Letters.

My love to Evelyn and Hope. Julian - Please send a full size copy of the miniature book of which I am now a proud owner.

Jack

[Quoted text hidden]

=

---

Wed, Mar 2, 2011 at 10:49 AM

To: [REDACTED]
Cc: Eric/Eve Newman <ericnumis@aol.com>, [REDACTED]

Jack,

My good friend Bill Friedlander had a Great Grandfather who ran a mining company that founded Aspin Colorado. I wonder if it is the same Cincinnati Mining Company?

I'll ask him and let you know his reply.

Joe

---

From: [REDACTED]
Sent: Wednesday, March 02, 2011 10:20 AM
To: Julian I. Edison
Cc: Eric/Eve Newman; Joe Hirschhorn; Dan May
Subject: Re: Fischell

Thanks. Your Fischell's are fascinating but not my Fishel's. My great grandfather Morris Fishel came from Bayreuth to the central South in the 1830s. He is fascinating enough. He was a peddler in such romantic places as Arab Mississippi. Then he crossed the isthmus of Panama and took a boat to California in 1849 and joined the Cincinnati Mining Company. Unfortunately my grandfather Jake Fishel sold the CMC gold double eagle in 1940 to raise a little money. But he gave me the Norris Gregg Norris coin which I have given to my eldest grandson Dan, now at Princeton. Anyway he, Morris, returned to Cincinnati, married an Irish girl, Margaret Callahan, falls under the influence of Isaac Mayer Wise, comes to Nashville in 1863 with Grant's occupation, forms the first Reform congregation here, also according to family legend was for a short time an early member of the KKK.

Jake was a 33rd degree Scottish Rite Mason sent his son Morris to Harvard class of 1922. Morris' daughter Nancy married David Wolf a major art collector now back in Cincinnati. Coincidentally all of this was rehearsed yesterday by my Swamper 6 and still fine friend Joe Hirschhorn with Nebagamon's own Rabbi Ken Kanter at HUC. I had recently sent them a copy of Alphabet of Letters.

My love to Evelyn and Hope. Julian - Please send a full size copy of the miniature book of which I am now a proud owner.

Jack

On Feb 27, 2011, at 3:46 PM, Julian I. Edison wrote:

Jack:

Here is the information about your family, from Eric's spywork.

JIE

Begin forwarded message:

From: EricNumis@aol.com
Date: February 27, 2011 2:58:43 PM CST
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: Fischell

Julian:

You told me and perhaps it said in Jack May's book that his mother's maiden name was more or less like the above. Before I look up proper spelling etc. I would like Jack to advise me where his mother's family came from, where they went and whether he had any Missouri or mid-western relatives.

Ernest Hemingway's third wife was Martha' Gelhorn who went to John Burroughs School with me in St. Louis. Her mother was an organizer of John Burroughs School in St. Louis in 1823 and her maiden name was Edna Fischell. She married Dr. George Gelhorn, a graduate of Heidelberg University in Germany and they lived in St. Louis about a block from our family residence. A close relative of Edna, perhaps a brother, was named Ellis Fiischel and was a prominent doctor in St. Louis. They avoided Jewishness I believe.

I have all the books in our library to correct the spelling and details once I get the data from Jack.

Relatively speaking

Eric

---

No virus found in this message.

Checked by AVG - www.avg.com

Version: 10.0.1204 / Virus Database: 1435/3477 - Release Date: 03/02/11

---

Wed, Mar 2, 2011 at 12:27 PM

To: [REDACTED] >

Cc: Eric/Eve Newman <ericnumis@aol.com>, [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Candied Yam:

You sure have a Fishy -- er... I mean Fischell --- Family!

Big Miniature Book was mailed yesterday.

And a big hello to Joe Hirschhorn whom I haven't seen since ??????

Hope Lynn has recovered by now from all the High Life down in Key West.

Julian

[Quoted text hidden]

=

California gold coins

3 messages

EricNumis@aol.com <EricNumis@aol.com>

Wed, Mar 2, 2011 at 6:08 PM

To: j

Cc: j

Dear Jack:

I am fascinated by your comments about the gold coins mentioned in the recent communications.

The current conclusions are that CINCINNATI MINING & TRADING COMPANY gold coins were dated only in 1849 and were in denominations of only $5 and $10. There are no known Cincinnati double eagle or $20 coins with that name but there were several other double eagles coined by other issuers with their names . The origin and location of the CINCINNATI company are unknown. Maybe the Fischel (?) relationship to Cincinnati may help solve the problem. Has anyone done any research on this matter in Cincinnati? There are excellent Cincinnati city and business directories from the early period and that might be studied further.

The $5 Norris, Gregg & Norris gold pieces ( I have one) are all dated 1849 and use in the text SAN FRANCISCO except one known example at the Smithsonian Institution which has STOCKTON instead. I suggest that your grandson takes a look at his at convenience.to see if his is extremely valuable by being the Stockton variety.

Very many German Jewish and Catholic families came to Cincinnati and to St. Louis during the German Protestant revolution of 1848 and some farmers earlier . My grandfather ( Elijah Newman ) came to Cincinnati about 1844 but his son Samuel E. Newman came to St. Louis in 1901 as an intern after graduating from the Miami Medical College in Cincinnati. He stayed here but none of his family came to Missouri thereafter.

I hope this drivel is of interest to you.

Eric

Wed, Mar 2, 2011 at 10:33 PM

To: EricNumis@aol.com

Cc:

I was clearly mistaken about the Cincinnati coin. I never saw it. I will follow up on the NGN coin now in a safe deposit box and report back. Jack

[Quoted text hidden]

=

Thu, Mar 3, 2011 at 5:09 PM

To: EricNumis@aol.com

Inspection of the Norris, Gregg Norris reveals it is not STOCKTON. Damnit. Thanks for the enlightenment. Jack
On Mar 2, 2011, at 5:08 PM, EricNumis@aol.com wrote:

[Quoted text hidden]

=

Eric Newman &lt;ericnumis106@gmail.com&gt;

---

Fwd: Cincinnati Mining Company

1 message

Fri, Mar 4, 2011 at 11:01 AM

To: [REDACTED] Eric/Eve Newman <ericnumis@aol.com>

More interesting ripples. Nebagamon's Rabbi Ken Kanter at HUC is also investigating.

Begin forwarded message:

From: [REDACTED]
Date: March 4, 2011 7:41:21 AM CST
To: " [REDACTED] "
Subject: FW: Cincinnati Mining Company

Not important but a tiny bit of info about the "Jews and the West".
Any thoughts on dates to get together?
Joe

---

From: [REDACTED]
Sent: Thursday, March 03, 2011 9:04 PM
To: Joe Hirschhorn
Subject: Re: Cincinnati Mining Company

Joe, It's not the same company.

My Great-Grandfather, David Hyman was a Cincinnatian, educated at Woodward HS and then Harvard Law School without ever attending college and he never ventured west of Aspen...at least not that he mentioned in his very complete memoirs. His mine in Aspen (his only one) was called "Smuggler-Durant"
Bill

On Wed, Mar 2, 2011 at 10:55 AM, Joe Hirschhorn <[REDACTED]> wrote:

Bill,

A good friend of mine Jack May, in Nashville, just sent an email about his family history. He had a Great Grandfather who join the Cincinnati Mining Company in 1849 in San Francisco. If I remember correctly you had a Great Grandfather who was a mining engineer and was with a mining company that founded Aspin CO.

Is this the same company?

Joe

1/22/2019

Gmail - Fwd: Cincinnati Mining Company

No virus found in this message.

Checked by AVG - www.avg.com

Version: 10.0.1204 / Virus Database: 1435/3480 - Release Date: 03/03/11

=